

BOOK REVIEW

NAME: Astrid the Unstoppable

AUTHOR: Maria Parr

ILLUSTRATOR: Katie Harnett

AGE RANGE: 7-8

MY THOUGHTS:

Unfortunately, I found this book extremely irritating and repetitive. I also found it exceptionally dull. I think that some younger readers might enjoy it as it does not have a very dramatic climax and has a map to help understand where the story takes you.

SUMMARY:

This book is about an adventurous girl named Astrid Glimmerdal; she lives in the town - by the sea - named Glimmerdal. She loves to ski down mountains but all she really wants is some more children to play with. But when two new children come to stay at the holiday camp Astrid wants to see if they are as adventurous as herself.

RATING:

I would give this 2 and a half stars as I found it a boring read but some other people might find it an exciting book.
